Friday night in Pittsburgh at the 2012 NHL Entry Draft was quite an event. 3 days later the hockey world is still buzzing about the trade that sent Brandon Sutter, Brian Dumoulin and the 8th pick in 2012 to Pittsburgh for Jordan Staal. J oin our conversation here in the Jordan Staal thread , to say there were a myriad of emotions would be an understatement. Brandon Sutter was/is a fan favorite here and Caniacs wish him the best, along with what many believe to be a very good prospect in Brian Dumoulin.

Canes Captain Eric will make the media rounds along with GM Jim Rutherford Monday 6/25 and Tuesday 6/26 on NHL Network, 99.9 The Fan and XM Radio. Check the time and schedule here
.

If you up for reading and missed some of the columns and articles on the trade during Draft weekend, here are a few good ones:

From our friends at Cardiac Cane : Canes Trade Sutter, Double Staals, Confuse Caniacs

From Yahoo Sports : Penguins trade Staal to Hurricanes win-win deal for all involved

Analysis/Fan Reaction on the Trade from Puck Daddy was really well written.

On the Draft weekend, besides the trade, the Canes did draft some guys; Read about them here.

The off season got interesting very fast. Keep up with all of the conversations right here with other fans and jump in and chat. July 1st and free agent frenzy are just days away.

Don't forget to take the survey here on this page!